Observations... By the Editor

Thanksgiving day—we in this wonderful country, where we are free to think and express ourselves, have much to thank Almighty God for... think of the people in other countries behind the iron curtain of Russia... thank God for the government we have, even though it may have slight socialistic leanings and ask Him to aid our leaders to maintain it in the same sphere which our forefathers fought to create... We live in the land of plenty with opportunity at our very beck and call... and speaking of opportunity—the outstanding speech of any national figure, in many a day, was made by James F. Byrnes, former United States Senator from South Carolina, and former Secretary of State, at the Conference of Southern Governors at Biloxi, when he exhorted the cause of free enterprise and initiative... these create opportunities... Synonymous with Thanksgiving in Bay St. Louis is the outstanding football classic of this section... the annual Flea and Fly Game, played each year by the youngsters of St. Stanislaus, for the benefit of the Brother Peter Christmas Tree fund... this classic has been held for many years and such stars as Marcy Schwartz, John Scafide, Wop Glover and many others have adorned the uniform of the Flea and Fly... the game will be played on this Sunday, November 27 at the St. Stanislaus Stadium and while on the subject of the Flea and Fly game... Brother Leonard is back directing the works... Oh we don't know just how many years... do you realize it is only one month to Christmas... many are already doing their shopping and many are preparing... have you thought about your local merchants... they probably have just the article you want and at probably the right price and maybe a little less than you buy it away from Bay St. Louis... when you buy at home you are helping to build your city and your country... advertisements and when you call on our local merchants with whom you do business and who advertise with you, will you give us a little too... it all helps... shells are being placed on the beach road... contractor T. E. Keller we observed was placing them in front of the church Wednesday morning... by the way has it ever occurred to you how many people have an utter disregard for the property of others for their dumping grounds... we wonder if by any chance ever a thought is given to the damage inflicted on one's property when it is made a dumping ground... how would you like to have trash and refuse dumped, say in your yard by some one else... treat others as you would want to be treated... burn or bury your trash.

Plan Flea and Fly Game For Sunday, November 27

The 38rd annual Flea and Fly classic will be played Sunday afternoon at St. Stanislaus stadium, starting at 2 p. m.

As in previous years, the game will be played for the benefit of the Brother Peter Christmas Tree Fund.

The Fleas and Flies have been divided into six squads each and every squad will be given an opportunity of showing its wares on the field. The quarters will be divided so that none of the youngsters will be burdened with fatigue.

Brother Leonard is the directing force behind the scenes. He is ably assisted by Brothers Arthur, Sidney, Dean, Ronan, Kenneth and Rian. Assisting the Brothers are: Vincent Ferritta, Howard Gilmore, Gerald Lytle, Toni Stimmel, and Gerald Gex.

It is planned to have a short parade from the campus to the field beginning at 1:15 p. m. All who wish to participate in the parade please report to Brother Leonard before 1 p. m. on Sunday.

Some "old timers" among the Fleas and Flies are: a youngster who seems to have "faded away" was four years old when he was in the game and the following year he was in the game again. The following are the names of the youngsters who are in the game: Dean, Ronan, Kenneth, Rian, Vincent, Howard, Gerald, Toni, and Gerald.

The C. of C. Opens Membership Drive Bay High And Waynesboro Selected For Lions Bowl

Bay High school and Waynesboro High are the two teams selected for the Lions Bowl to be played at St. Stanislaus stadium Friday, December 9 at 8 p. m.

Tickets go on sale this week for the classic which the sponsors hope will be an annual affair in Bay St. Louis.

The visitors from Waynesboro played their last game with Taylorville and lost by the toss of a coin. The two teams had played to a scoreless tie even after an extra quarter had failed to break the deadlock. Both had the same number of first downs and amount of yardage gained. Finally, in desperation it was decided to flip a coin to decide the winner. Taylorville won the toss and the game.

Bay High is eligible to play in the bowl because of having forfeited its rights to be in the state playoff. They were scheduled to play Poplarville as their last game of the season but perferred to have a Homecoming game with Eatonville instead, thereby forfeiting any playoff hopes they might have had.

Invite Parents and Friends To Attend Music Recital

The pupils of Mrs. Marie Bordage's music class cordially invite their parents and friends to attend a recital to be given Wednesday, November 30 at the St. Joseph auditorium at 8 p. m.

The program is directed by Mother Blanchette on the occasion of her feast day.

Red Cross Notes

Approximately 30 veterans of the Gulfport Veterans hospital were entertained by members of St. Margaret's Daughters at the Bay St. Louis parochial lunch room on Tuesday, November 22. Refreshments were served, games were played and community singing was the order of the day.

These ladies dedicate their time to entertaining the veterans who are not able to leave the hospital. There are several groups from Bay St. Louis including the ladies of this new group, namely: Mrs. Ezeldia Ling, Mrs. Charles Van Trier, Mrs. Joseph Kern Mrs. Billy Trastour Mrs. W. Gibbs Mrs. Farrally, Mrs. Wm. E. Bartram, Misses Mary Francis Scafide, Alberta Beyer, Pat Bartram and Florence Finhold.

Plan To Take Youngsters To The City For Circus

The Jerusalem Temple Shrine Circus, which plays the Municipal Auditorium in New Orleans, through November 27, has designated the matinee performance of Saturday, November 26, as "Neighboring Communities Day." Col. Robert W. Smith Chairman of the Circus Committee announced.

Letters have been sent to superintendents and principals of elementary schools in parishes and towns throughout southern Louisiana and Mississippi including Bay St. Louis.

Special plans are being studied to take the youngsters to New Orleans in school busses and other forms of transportation. Interest in the circus is very high and many youngsters are planning to go. The circus is expected to arrive in Bay St. Louis on Sunday, November 27.

"Current memberships in the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce end with the close of the organization's fiscal year, October 31," H. H. Shattuck, president, stated today. The Chamber of Commerce, announcing the drive for 1950, called upon all Hancock county citizens to join and actively support the organization.

Letters are this week being mailed to members and the directors urging each citizen as well as those contacted by mail to join forces in putting the drive over the top.

Individual memberships are now $12.50 and Mr. Shattuck said that payments may be made at the office in the Russell building on Main street, to R. L. Hamilton at the Hancock Bank to Joe B. Burrow at the Merchants Bank or may be mailed directly to the Chamber of Commerce, P. O. Box 239, Bay St. Louis, Miss.

The membership drive now under way will continue for 10 days and will culminate in a shrimp boil at the Hotel Reef on December 6. Further announcement of this occasion will appear in this paper next week.

APPLICATIONS DUE DEC. 1 FOR MED. LOANS

Mississippi State Medical Board offices called attention to the deadline of December 1 for all applications for medical education scholarship loans to become effective in January or February, 1950. It was also urged that all students who file application by December 1 complete their credentials in the Board offices by or before December 15, deadline set by the Board for receipt of such credentials.

To date 208 young Mississippians have been approved by the State Medical Education Board for loans since the beginning of the program. The program is designed to practice as family doctors in rural areas and over 20 are now serving internships. During the school year 1949-1950 over 170 will be enrolled in 23 medical schools throughout the United States. Mississippi students are enrolled as first-year medical students in the following medical schools this year: University of Mississippi School of Medicine, Oxford; Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York City; Emory University School of Medicine, Atlanta; Harvard Medical School, Boston; Tulane University School of Medicine, New Orleans; and Vanderbilt University School of Medicine, Nashville.

Through this program the state of Mississippi offers to any bona fide citizen and resident a loan with which he may enter or complete medical training. By practicing in any approved rural area for five years the young physician may receive complete credit for his total loan, plus four percent interest thereon. All loan recipients are obligated for a minimum period of two years' practice in an approved rural area. Approval is given by the State Medical Education Board within the provisions of the law after consideration of: (1) need of the area for additional physicians; (2) choice of location of practice by the young physician; (3) opportunity for service offered by the area; and similar factors.

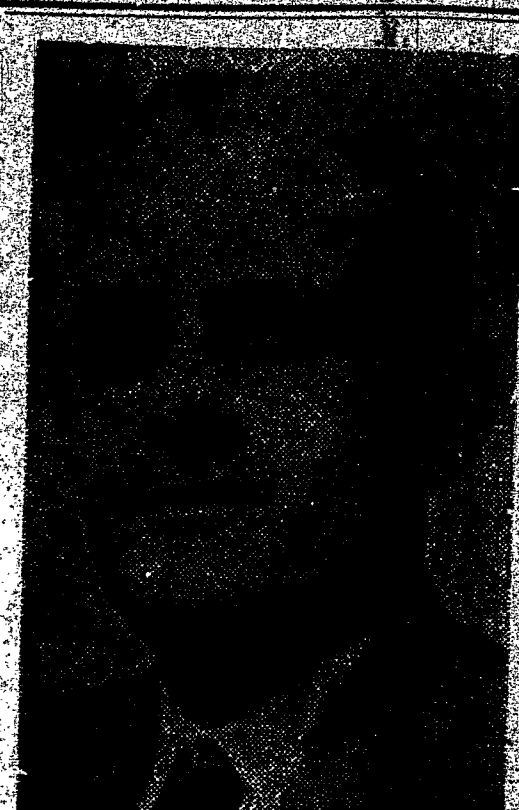

New York Money May Go To Mississippi Veterans

Were you a resident of New York State for six months immediately prior to entry into active service during World War II? If so, you may now be entitled to the New York State Bonus. Under an amendment to the New York State Bonus Law, approved November 8th, residence in New York State is no longer required at the time of filing application.

According to a statement from the State Veterans Affairs Commission many former residents of New York State are now residing in Mississippi. Many of these World War II veterans have been denied the bonus under the law which required that they had been residents of New York State at the time of filing application.

Active duty of any duration entitles the veteran to the bonus of the United States $2,000.

Jackson Is Scene of Art Display From High School

Jackson will again be the scene of the Mississippi Scholastic Art Awards exhibition, to which art students in junior and senior high schools throughout this region will submit entries for recognition of their talents in the art field. R. E. Kennington Co. in Jackson will again serve as regional sponsor of the 1950 Scholastic Art Awards, which is conducted nationally by Scholastic Magazines. Last year the national program drew over 100,000 entries from the United States, its territories and possessions.

The program booklet, giving all details of the program, has already been mailed to principals and art teachers throughout Mississippi. It announces that there are 22 art classifications which students may enter in pictorial art, graphic arts, design, advertising art, sculpture and ceramics, crafts, and photography.

An advisory committee has been formed to aid in the conducting of the program. Headed by Miss Josephine Garrett, art instructor, Griffin Jr. High, Meridian, its members include Mrs. Maxine House, art supervisor, public schools, Greenville; Miss Ruth O'Leary, art instructor, Engle's Jr. High, Jackson; Miss Martha Crockett, art instructor, Gardiner High, Laurel; R. E. Kennington Co., Jackson. This committee will make arrangements for the handling, receiving, judging, and exhibition of entries in February.

Kennington's is one of over 40 stores throughout the country cooperating with Scholastic Magazines in their aim to develop the artistic endeavors of teen-agers by offering them concrete encouragement. This is the fourth year that this store has conducted the Mississippi Scholastic Art Awards. Regional winners will receive gold, achievement keys and certificates of merit. Pieces selected by the jury will then go on display at the store from February 18 until March 4. After that show, the key-winning pieces will be forwarded to Carnegie Institute in Pittsburgh, where they will be judged by a jury of distinguished artists and educators for thousands of dollars in cash awards and nearly 100 tuition scholarships to leading art schools.

Inspect Farmer's Market At Hattiesburg Nov. 19th

Last Saturday, November 19, a group of five Bay St. Louis men visited Hattiesburg to inspect the farmer's market there with the possibility of establishing a similar market in the Bay.

Those making the trip were: W. S. Moore, president of the Lions Club; H. H. Shattuck, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Howard Stimmons, county agent; Hugh Egerton, county administration officer for P. M. A. and Warren Carver, mayor.

The tour lasted two hours and took in the farmer's market, the Forest county Cooperative Association and the Forest county sweet potato curing plant. The market, which deals in all farm and home grown products, was found to be very successfully run. It is sponsored by the Metropolitan Club of Hattiesburg which takes a keen interest in the operation and maintenance of the enterprise.

As yet, nothing definite has been decided as to the establishment of such a market here in Bay St. Louis.

DISABLED VET. SHORT SHOWN AT A & G

Bay St. Louis residents will soon see at the A. & G. Theatre a 10 minute educational movie short dramatizing the story of the Disabled American Veterans.

The film, titled "How Much Do You Owe?" stars James Stewart famous motion picture actor, and General Jonathan M. Wainwright, hero of Bataan and Corregidor.

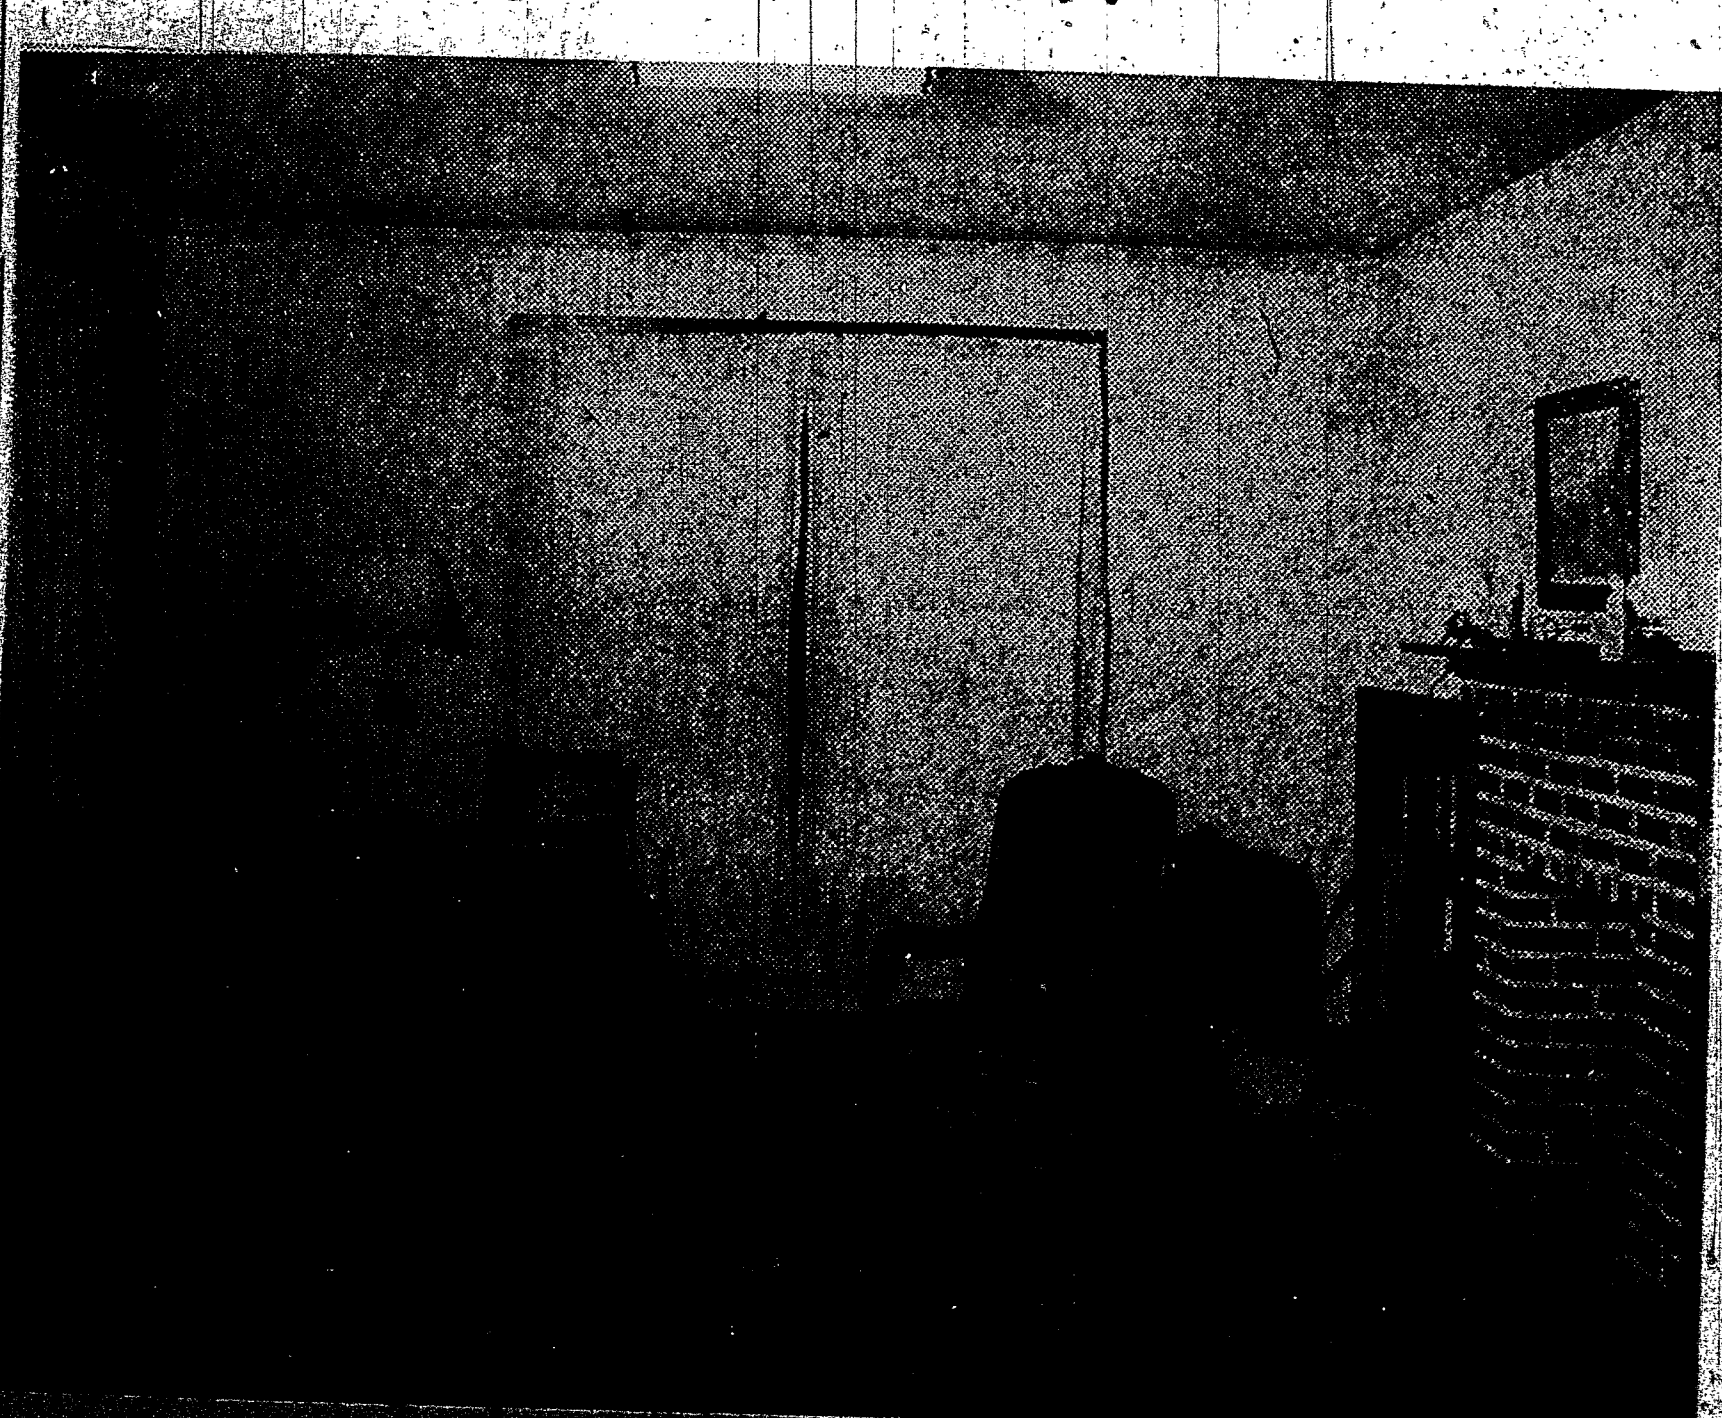

With Jimmy Stewart contributing his services and the entire motion picture industry cooperating to make the film and its distribution possible, movie goers will see a dramatic, alive and realistic presentation of the rehabilitation of the disabled veteran.

The recent 28th national convention of the Disabled American Veterans in Cleveland unanimously adopted a resolution commending the motion picture industry for its contribution and a special citation was awarded Stewart.

The story was written by Col. Owen Crump, well known Hollywood writer and producer and was directed by Ralph Staub, able Columbia Pictures director.

Step by step, through the thread of the plot of the short, is the courageous story of the problem facing the disabled veteran. A realistic presentation is made of the problems that every community faces and the manner in which the DAV serves.

YOU WILL BE THE JUDGE

The decision to recall Commissioners Ladner and Glover is now in the hands of the people of Bay St. Louis. The petition with the required twenty-five names has been published, and if and when the full petition with twenty-five per cent of the qualified voters signing, is filed, it then becomes the duty of the council to call an election for you the people to cast your vote in the final decision.

Why is a recall of the two commissioners wanted? Our answer would be:—If commissioners Ladner and Glover had become servants of the racketeers, and did not have the courage of their convictions, the petition would not now be circulated for their recall.

These young men have stood their ground under much pressure, and have performed their duties, remembering the oath of office they took when assuming office.

Have you read the reasons as set forth in the petition for the recall of these men? Do you believe they are sound reasons for their removal from office? No, the real reason is not expressed in the petition. The closest they came to the point is in paragraph four, which stated that the commissioners have illegally usurped all the duties and administrative powers rightfully belonging to the Mayor. Yes, sir, give the Mayor control of the police so that he may better serve the few who comprise the syndicate and control the rackets. Then the Mayor and the few will be happy.

Are the people of Bay St. Louis going to be hoodwinked and cajoled by a bewildered young man who apparently is floating in the air with bubbles bursting all around him, or will they think soundly, keeping in mind, the best interests of their city and its people and lending their support to two young men who are giving their all, and who are honest and courageous.

Will the City of Bay St. Louis be controlled by the racketeers or by its people through their officials?
You the people will be the judges.

Is Your School Safe?

Is the school which your children and your neighbors' children attend safe from the deadly hazard of fire? And, if fire does strike, has every possible precaution been taken to make sure that those in the building will be quickly evacuated?

These are all-important questions, and they can't be casually answered off-hand. Many a supposedly safe school has become the smoldering scene of a ghastly tragedy. Every school should be subjected to a simple fire test which has been suggested by the National Board of Fire Underwriters. It goes like this:

1. Are the stairways protected by fire-resisting enclosures?
2. Are there at least two exits, well separated, on each floor?
3. Are all exit ways clear of obstructions?
4. Is the heating boiler or furnace in a separate, fire-resistive room?
5. Are safe arrangements provided for the disposal of waste paper trash?
6. Are prescribed fire drills practiced regularly?

Betty Fricke Sells Pecans To Earn Money For Camp

Betty Ann Fricke of Lakeshore school was the first 4-H Club member in Hancock County to raise a dollar for the 4-H Club camp to be located on the Gulf Coast.

Betty Ann, 10 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Fricke, has "clothing" as her 4-H project. She earned her dollar, for the camp, by selling pecans.

All counties in the southern part of Mississippi are raising money to help build the camp. Hancock county's quota is $485.00 or $1.00 per 4-H member. Home Demonstration clubs are also raising $1.00 per member for the camp.

If your school can answer YES to questions like these, you can breathe easily. If the answer is NO—then look out! Every year fire strikes in more than 2000 schools—and in many cases death, injury and maiming of children follows. There is no greater community responsibility than making our schools safe—and keeping them safe.

Eagle and the Turkey

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

This is the time of year when the turkey is the bird supreme in millions of homes. Would that he might be supreme in every home, no matter where located, or how poor. We look upon the turkey as a symbol of Thanksgiving for our abundant blessings, for the free country that is ours, and for the opportunities before us that are boundless.

But while our thoughts are centered upon Thanksgiving as a day in which to render our thanks to Almighty God, and while we are concerned about the turkey, as a symbol of all this, there is another bird that we are prone to forget—a bird that is a symbol of life—the American eagle.

Let us at this time pay tribute to this bird as the symbolic protector of our great republic, its ideals, and its hopes for a permanent peace among all nations of this world. It is because of our freedom, our democratic institutions, and other wide-open enterprise, that we come to each Thanksgiving day with so much to be thankful for. And we have an abundance that ought to be, more and more, shared with others.

I do not know why the eagle was selected as a national emblem, unless because of his powerful physique, and its jealous protective strength. It is a bird that soars high. It certainly is a bird that looks good. Not one to challenge.

At this Thanksgiving time we should think upon all that we have and enjoy. Just to have been born an American, to have adopted America as our own, is a precious thing. What country in all the world has been so greatly blessed? And what other country has been so earnest in its efforts to spread its benefits far and wide?

The Go-Getter Son Learned To Take It Easy—Live Awhile

By BILLY ROSE

It was one of those days. What with the phones going, a show rehearsing in my theatre, and people popping in and out, my office was like backstage at an Oren and Johnson musical.

One of my appointments was with an ex-soldier who had recently returned from the Pacific. Like a thousand other kids, he was anxious to get a job in show business. I told him I'd get in touch with him if anything turned up, and asked him to excuse the short interview because I was rushed. He smiled and walked to the door.

"What are you grinning about?" I asked.

"Oh, nothing," he said. "I just happened to think of another fellow who was in a hurry."

The way he said it made me curious. "Tell me about the other fellow," I said.

"He was nobody important," said the ex-G.I. "He and his father farmed a small piece of land, but except for their name and the patch of ground, they had little in common."

"The old man believed in taking it easy. The son was the go-getter type."

"One morning, they loaded the cart, hitched up the ox and set out for the city. The young fellow figured that if they kept going all day and night, they'd get to the market by next morning. So he walked alongside the ox and kept prodding it with a stick."

"Take it easy," said the old man. "You'll last longer."

"If we get to market ahead of the others," said his son, "we have a better chance of getting good prices."

"THE OLD MAN pulled his hat down over his eyes and went to sleep on the seat. Four miles and four hours down the road, they came to a little house. 'Here's your uncle's place,' said the father, waking up. 'Let's stop in and say hello.'"

"We've lost an hour already," complained the go-getter.

"Then a few minutes more won't matter," said his father. "My brother and I live so close, yet we see each other so seldom."

"The young man fidgeted while the two old gentlemen gossiped away an hour."

"On the move again, the father took his turn leading the ox. When they came to a fork in the road, the old man directed the ox to the right. 'The left is the shorter way,' said the boy."

"I know it," said the old man, "but this way is prettier."

"Have you no respect for time?" asked the impatient young man.

"I respect it very much," said the older fellow. "That's why I like to use it looking at flowers."

"The right-hand path led through woodland and wild flowers. The young man was so busy watching the sun sink he didn't notice how lovely the sunset was. He almost found them in what looked like one big garden. Let's sleep here," said the old man.

"This is the last trip I take with you," said his son. "You're more interested in flowers than in making money."

"THAT'S THE NICEST thing you've said in a long time," smiled the old fellow. A minute later, he was asleep.

"Before sunrise, the young man shook his father awake and they went on. A mile down the road, they came upon a farmer trying to pull his cart from a ditch."

"Let's give him a hand," said the father.

"And lose more time?" asked the son.

"Relax," said the old man. "Some day you may be in a ditch yourself."

"By the time the other cart was back on the road, it was eight o'clock. Suddenly a great flash of lightning split the sky. Then there was thunder. Beyond the hills, the heavens grew dark."

"Looks like a big rain in the city," said the old man.

"If we had been on time, we'd be sold out by now," grumbled his son.

"Take it easy," said the old gentleman. "You'll last longer."

"It wasn't until afternoon that they got to the top of the hill overlooking the town. They looked down at it for a long time. Finally the young man who had been in such a hurry said, 'I see what you mean, father.'"

"They turned their cart around and drove away from what had once been the city of Hiroshima."

Schmitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Schmitt, has a 99.25% average. Levy's average is 98.25%. In close pursuit are George Hamilton with a 98.20% average and Richard Horgan, with 97%. Both are members of the senior class.

COTTON, MILK, SYRUP ON THE NEEDED LIST
Mississippi farm commodities responsible for export through the Christian Relief Overseas Program (CROP) for relief of the ill, destitute and hungry of Europe and Asia were made known in announcement just released by Major W. E. Holcomb, State Director.
It was explained, however, that donations of all kinds of produce are encouraged and will be acceptable, with county committees authorized to convert cash and non-exportable items into the commodities that will be shipped overseas.
Cotton, corn, soy beans, milk, cane syrup, peanuts, pecans and dehydrated sweet potatoes are listed as approved for export.
Cotton is especially sought since the bale unit controls in shipment to port irrespective of quality, and the need for the fiber overseas is desperate.
"Milk, powdered, condensed or evaporated is needed badly," Holcomb said, "and raw milk will be converted at processing plants into one of three forms suitable for shipment overseas."
Canned cane syrup in gallon tins or larger, when sealed on two sides is another item acceptable in any quantity available. Several counties are concentrating on corn and soy beans and setting goals in terms of carload lots.
More than 100,000 CROP pledge cards to be used in the various counties of the state by canvassers, selected by local organization officials, have been forwarded in response to requests from county chairmen. Each donor will indicate on the card his or her contribution, amount, and the church relief agency through which the gift is to be distributed. Churches of all denominations are cooperating.

Statement of J. Cyril Glover
Since my election as Commissioner and the assumption of the duties of Tax Collector, I found that the amount of taxes and water rentals were so much larger in amount than that collected in prior years that it appeared in the best interest of the Taxpayers of the City of Bay St. Louis for the City Auditor to go beyond the period recently audited by the State Department of Audit and make an audit of the former Tax Collector for the 4-year period beginning October 1, 1940 and ending September 30, 1944. A preliminary check shows that approximately $20,892.49 in ad valorem taxes for the years 1940 and 1941 have not been entered in the Tax Collector's Cash Book, which together with the legal rate of interest to date will amount to $30,806.41.
It was our plan to complete the full four (4) year period before releasing the results of the audit (and then only with a minimum of publicity and least amount of embarrassment to all parties concerned) but the recent action on the part of Mayor Carver and his "advisors" including the Slot Machine Syndicate, to recall your two Commissioners, we are compelled, in self-defense to make known the present status of the audit and to allow the public to guess what the figure will be for the full four (4) year term; and to further allow the public to be the judge as to the REAL REASON why Mayor Carver and his associates want us removed from office.
The Mayor, who has done everything possible to cover up the TRUE FACTS; and to defend the policies of the former administration, is busy crying "mistrustment" to the public and is circulating a petition of malicious false representations in a frantic effort to recall Commissioner Ladner and me from office.
It is our belief that he wants us recalled so that he can DOUBLE-CROSS

THE PUBLIC AGAIN. He and his "advisors" are trying to keep the FACTS we find in the RECORDS from time to time will not be revealed.
He would like to remove Commissioner Ladner and me from office and then he would be in a position to impede or block the present $90,000.00 suit brought by the State Auditor and City of Bay St. Louis, which suit is pending for the January, 1950, Term of Chancery Court, and therefore jeopardize the interest of the Tax-payers. The State Auditor would not proceed without the full cooperation of the City, and if Mr. Carver could get his choice—and the choice of the Slot Machine Syndicate—for the Attorney to represent the City, I ask the public to be the judge as to what would happen to other claims due the City. It will do the Tax-payers no good for us to uncover these shortages and then allow Mayor Carver and his "advisors" to cover them up.
Mayor Carver has made numerous statements that the City cannot operate on the money received through taxation. This should prove to the public that such is a fallacy, for if this money had been used by the City instead of being mishandled, we would have less taxes to pay, better streets, an adequate sewerage system, water system and many other improvements which we certainly need. However, in spite of the criticism of the Mayor, our City's credit is the best it has been in sixteen (16) years; the current bills and expenses are being paid; the City employees are receiving their salary without having to borrow from the Bank and pay interest themselves, and the City is operating without borrowing from the Bank, except for the amount required for the present school operation until tax-collecting time.

State College, Miss.—For the first time a Mississippi 4-H Club member has created a "special project" and won a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago to entertain, with piano selections, about 2,000 4-H winners from every state in the nation; it was announced today by R. O. Monmouth, state 4-H Club leader.
Johnny Yarborough, 15 year-old 4-H member from Pickens, Holmes County, who recently won first place in piano on the Horace Heidt Talent Show in Jackson, and who received wide acclaim for his performance with the show later in New Orleans, was invited by the National Club Congress.
A music student of nine years, Johnny is a player of classic and boogie selections. He used for his numbers the Wagon Concerto and the Bumble Bee Boogie.
Johnny has been selected to present piano selections at the U. S. Rubber Company breakfast at the Blackstone Hotel on Thursday, December 1. His expense to and from Chicago as well as hotel accommodations and meals will be provided by the United States Rubber Company.
An active 4-H Club member for five years, he is doing "an outstanding job this year in wildlife, poultry and leadership," according to his assistant county agent, Hayes T. Farish.
Johnny is a member of the Holmes Junior College Band, president of the Pickens Club, president of Pickens Dramatic Club, and president of Boys Hi-Y Club. He plays for community, school and church functions.

STATE'S HISTORICAL POINTS DRAWING BIG TOURIST VOLUME

Mississippi's importance as a vacationland, unknown as such to outsiders until a decade ago, is becoming increasingly evident to travelers from other sections of the nation, records of the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board show.

The board's travel department has, for instance, received almost 50,000 requests for tourist literature and information during the past year exceeding all previous years. The volume of this kind of correspondence is increasing rapidly, and many of the requests carry special sections on travel these days, also are awakening to Mississippi's tourist possibilities and are requesting and using much more information of this type about the state in their columns.

In October of this year, for instance, the metropolitan newspapers, one magazine and six A.A. clubs sent representatives on a week-long tour of the state to gather information for their readers.

Although the state's importance to vacationers has been evident to natives since Pierre leMoigne first established the first colony near what is now Biloxi in 1699, its failure to attract outsiders in large numbers until recent years is probably due to the absence of first class highways until the last decade.

Until 10 years ago Mississippi was almost unknown as a winter resort. But today, thousands of northern and mid-western tourists forsake their snow-bound homes for the semi-tropical atmosphere of the Gulf Coast, the Piliatages at Columbus, Holly Springs and Natchez, and historic Vicksburg.

Much of Mississippi's appeal to the traveler lies in her colorful history, which dates nearly a hundred years before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock. And the state's history must be understood even by natives, if the present reminders of this era are to be appreciated to their fullest.

The record history of Mississippi begins with the expedition of the Spaniard, Hernando DeSoto, whose route across North Mississippi led to his discovery of the city Father of Waters in 1541.

More than a century later, the French, developing their fur trade, heard more and more about a great river running in what they thought a westerly direction. Miquette and Joliet uncovered the true course of the river and later Sieur de la Salle, visualizing the possibilities the valley afforded as a chain of fur trading posts, won a charter from Louis XIV, who in 1684 provided ships to move colonists to the mouth of the river. France, Great Britain, and Spain became rivals for the mouth of the river, but the French under d'Iberville established a post at Fort St. Pierre, near modern Atoka, in 1699 and established a fort strong enough to withstand attack.

The period of French colonization reached a turning point in the Battle of Acha, fought near what is now Tupelo in 1736. The French lost the support of the Indians and their colonies were almost everywhere by the year 1736 when Mississippi was ceded to Great Britain in the Treaty of Paris.

A group of school girls get a practical lesson in history by studying one of the hundreds of markers and tablets covering the various phases of the Siege and Defense of Vicksburg in the Vicksburg National Military Park, which draws thousands of students from all over the United States each year. The Illinois Monument is immediately behind them.

One of the earliest British expeditions to the new territory was ambushed by Indians in 1764, but the British rebuilt Fort Rosalie at Natchez and occupied it in 1764. While the American Revolution was at its height, the Spanish returned to Mississippi and set up their government at Natchez in 1781, laying out an extensive and beautiful town on the bluffs overlooking the river. Many of these homes and buildings are still left in and around Natchez.

This cross marks point at which d'Iberville established Biloxi in 1699. Biloxi was the first permanent settlement in the Mississippi Valley. Present day Biloxi's Back Bay region can be seen background.

The Spanish evacuated the Mississippi Territory in 1797, two years after it was ceded to the United States by the Treaty of San Lorenzo. The Natchez country became the center of territorial government in Mississippi in 1798.

and the city of Natchez became the first Territorial capital and the home of the leading men of the day.

This complete break with European civilization did not come, however, until the War of 1812, climaxed by Andrew Jackson's victory over the British at the Battle of New Orleans. Mississippi was formally admitted to the Union December 10, 1817.

With the next 15 years territory held by the Indians was turned over to the white people and the population of the territory increased 170 per cent in the next 10 years.

In the four years of Civil War, Mississippi was the scene of much bitter fighting. The most important campaign was the siege of Vicksburg, which fell July 4, 1863, sealing the fate of the Confederacy.

Much of Mississippi's present day charm and old world atmosphere, her customs and architecture, can be traced to the influence of the various periods through which she has passed and to the many flags under which she has been ruled.

The state's colorful history can be followed easily in most instances through well-preserved forts, comparatively undisturbed battlefields and through the treasure troves which grace the interiors of many of the cherished ante-bellum homes built in the course of her history.

Tens of thousands of visitors make their way through these homes, and over these battlefields annually.

These reminders of the state's history, vitally important to Mississippi's tourist industry, are in many cases being marked now by the Mississippi Historical Society.

On seeing the blaze she returned to her classroom and told her first and second grade pupils to follow her. She then rang the school bell and all the other pupils thought it was a fire drill and marched safely out. Miss Mary Perkins then phoned for help. Both the Waveland and Bay St. Louis fire departments together with the men of Waveland helped extinguish the fire.

Turkey Preparations From A to Z

Any day of the year may now be Turkey Day. But THE TURKEY DAY of them all is Thanksgiving, which comes around this week on November 24.

Do you need a whole turkey, or will a half or quarter fit your family need? Often it is more economical to take a large turkey, use part of it fresh, and freeze or can the rest for future use.

Whatever size bird you choose, be sure to dress and chill it to 36 degrees Fahrenheit immediately and keep at low temperature for future use.

DRESS CHILL AND DRAW

You may dry pick or slack scald the turkey at 128 to 140 degrees Fahrenheit. Pull out pin feathers with knife or tweezers, being careful not to break the skin. Singe by holding turkey over gas flame or burning wrapping paper. Do not use newspaper since the printers ink discolors the bird. Wash the carcass inside and out with cold water. You may like to use soda or salt.

COAST GUARD VILLAGE WITHOUT STUFFING

First season the inside of the turkey before putting in the stuffing, if you add giblets or other meats to the stuffing, they must be previously cooked.

Allow about 1 cup of dressing for each pound of turkey. Fill the neck region and body cavity. Do not pack it tightly. The dressing will expand during cooking. Extra dressing can be baked in a separate pan. If desired, you may prepare two kinds of dressing—one for the body cavity and another for the neck cavity.

The abdominal opening can be easily laced shut with cord and a few skewers to hold in the dressing. A needle and cord may be used to sew the cavity instead of lacing it, although the cord is not so easily removed after roasting.

Fasten the neck skin to the back with a skewer. Trussing improves the looks of the bird, helps it cool evenly, and makes it easier to carve.

Bring the wing tips onto the back. Lift the wing up and out, forcing the tip back until it rests flat against the neck skin. Repeat with second wing after the legs are tied together. Pull toward tail until the leg ends are directly above the tail. Tie the legs snugly against the tail.

Grease the skin thoroughly with melted fat. The greases will hold the moisture in the turkey, keeping it juicy, and aid in uniform browning. It makes basting unnecessary. Grease the bird with a folded cloth dipped in melted fat. Use a thin, open-textured cloth that will be suitable for covering the bird during roasting.

Place breast-down on a rack in a shallow pan. Use either a flat rack or a V-rack. Raising the bird on a rack keeps it out of the juices and lets heat circulate freely around it so it is evenly cooked. If you use a V-rack, the turkey can be kept breast-down throughout most of the roasting. If you use a flat rack, turn the bird during roasting so the other side of the breast rests on the rack, cooking both sides evenly. In either case, the bird is usually turned breast-up to finish cooking and browning.

Spread a fat-moistened cloth over the top and sides of the bird. The cloth holds the grease to the skin. Basting is unnecessary. No cover is needed.

Roast a turkey that weighs from 10 to 14 pounds after it is stuffed in an oven set at 325 degrees Fahrenheit a turkey weighing 14 to 20 pounds at 300 degrees. It will take 3 to 3 1/2 hours to cook a stuffed turkey weighing 8 to 10 pounds; 4 to 4 1/2 hours for 14 to 18 pounds; 4 1/2 to 5 hours for 18 pounds; and 5 to 6 hours for 20 pounds.

The oven should be preheated to the proper temperature. Correct roasting is slow cooking by dry heat—no cover, no searing, no water, no basting. If the fat sputters indicating the drippings are burning, the oven is too hot. Low-temperature roasting reduces shrinkage, resulting in MORE SERVINGS OF JUICIER, EVENLY BROWNED MEAT.

After one hour, cut the leg trusses. By this time the heat will have set the leg joints. Releasing the leg ends from the tail allows the inside of the leg and the adjoining breast section to cook thoroughly.

To insure even cooking and browning, roast the bird with the breast up during the last quarter of cooking time. Cover the breast and sides with the well-greased cloth. If you want the bird browner, remove the cloth during the last 20 or 30 minutes of roasting.

About 20 minutes before the roasting time is up, press the thickest part of the drumstick with the fingers. Be sure to protect the fingers with cloth or paper. When the meat feels quite soft, the turkey is done. If the leg joint breaks or moves readily when the drumstick is moved up and down, the turkey is done. DO NOT PRICK THE MEAT WITH A FORK. It is not a reliable test and juices escape from the meat.

Time the roasting so the bird is done and out of the oven 15 to 20 minutes before serving. This gives time to remove corals and skewers and to make gravy. Meanwhile, the turkey loses its extreme heat, absorbs juices and becomes easier to carve.

Place breast-up on a warm platter. Use paper towels to lift the hot turkey from pan to platter. Hold it with one hand under the wing and breast, the other hand under the body beneath the opposite leg. Keep the turkey in a warm place until ready to serve. Pour the drippings into a bowl and save them for making gravy.

Reduce Feed With Good Grazing

By Howard F. Simmons

Cow owners who planted oats high butter fat breeds, and one or other winter grazing crops early to two and one-half pounds for enough for grazing now will be able lower butter fat breeds. Under trees to keep up top milk production lower butter fat breeds. Under these with feeding a minimum of high cost grain feed. Also, the herd will be in much better health.

Where a liberal amount of grazing is available and bright green-colored leafy hay is plentiful to supplement, grazing, feeding one pound of a suitable grain mixture for each three and one-half pounds of milk daily should provide nutrients to keep up an economical milk flow on Jersey and Guernsey cows, or Holsteins, under the same conditions the ratio of one pound grain mixture to four or milk should be heavy feeding.

If grazing is not so plentiful, or the hay is not of extra good quality or not so plentiful, heavier feeding of grain mixtures should be followed. Where winter grazing will be lacking but where there is an abundance of good quality legume for legume with some good grasses mixed in, the above ratio plan may be followed.

Consider the ratio between the cost of concentrate feeds and the price being received for milk. If feed prices are relatively low as compared to the price being received for milk, more grains may be fed, especially if extra milk is needed to hold trade or to hold up the winter base.

If hay is not of good quality legume or is grass entirely, and silage is not available, the ratio for Jerseys should approach one of concentrate mixture to two and one-half to three pounds of milk.

With the roughage entirely of low grade hay or hulls, the ratio will need to be one pound of concentrates to two pounds of milk for

MISS HAS THE BEST OIL AND GAS RECORD

Mississippi leads again.

Mississippi's Oil and Gas Board has the best records on drilling exploration and production in the state, of any of America's major oil and gas producing states, according to the industry's leading trade magazines.

These public records, complete and authentic, mean that Mississippi operators will probably be able to set a world's record for high percentage of recovery of both gas and oil from reservoirs already discovered and in new fields as they are struck, these experts declare. That means, they point out, that there will be less waste of these valuable resources and greater cash returns for the land owners, the drillers, the producers and the State itself, which benefits from the added taxes.

Almost every trade magazine which circulate generally in the industry has had some special mention of the Mississippi board in recent months; in each of these, the authors have pointed out that even under the old conservation act, interested state officials insisted on keeping records which were far ahead of most "new oil states."

When the present appointive State Oil and Gas Board was created under the 1948 Conservation Act, it was authorized to employ as many experts as it needed to expand these reports—petroleum engineers, statisticians, field and drilling experts and general office aides. In other words that the added workers would not be a burden on the state, the legislature authorized a special tax on production to pay these added expenses.

How all this has worked out has been the theme of several special articles complimentary to the State of Mississippi to its legislators for their far-sightedness in enacting the new law; to the Board itself for administering the act fairly and impartially and to the Board's technical staff for keeping its information up to date and accurate.

A few years before the new act was passed, leading operators in the state formed a non-profit co-operative "engineering committee" ably staffed, to complete all current data on drilling and production when the new Board got ready to employ added experts it hired the staff of the committee, which then turned over to the state all its statistical data, as well as its complicated testing and other machinery.

This augmented staff, working under Supervisor H. M. Morse, is making a record that all states envy. The trend of these complimentary magazine articles. For instance, one magazine last month said "Mississippi has the best documented oil development of any major producing state," and added that these documents will probably result in greater recovery from oil and gas pools than has ever been possible in the older producing states.

Naval Stores Program Is Outlined By Ag. Dept.

The 1950 Conservation Program for naval stores is here set forth by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Except for a few changes in rates and the addition of two practices the program is essentially the same as for 1949.

The important provisions of the 1950 program, effective January 1, 1950, are: (1) Payment of 2 cents for each properly installed, first year face on trees not less than 9 inches in diameter; (2) 3 1/2 cents for each properly installed first year face on trees not less than 10 inches in diameter; (3) 6 cents for each first year face properly installed under selective cupping practices; (4) payment of 1.2 cents for continued proper working of each 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th year face; (5) 2 1/2 cents for continued working of each 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th year face which was installed under selective cupping practice; (6) payment of 6 cents and 9 cents for each face accepted for pilot plant tests for controlled experiments in new methods and equipment for gum production; and (7) a requirement that participants follow approved practices relative to fire protection and timber cutting. The two new practices are: Restricted cupping, 3 1/2 cents per face; selective re-cupping, 8 cents per face.

Copies of the bulletin outlining the terms and conditions of the program will be available for distribution to turpentine farmers in about 10 days or two weeks. The field administration of this program is through the U. S. Forest Service office at Valdosta, Georgia.

The Naval Stores Conservation Program was inaugurated in 1938. Its purpose is to encourage farmers to follow conservation practices in the pine forest areas of the Southeast. The program is administered by the Forest Service for the Production and Marketing Administration under regulations similar to those governing PMA's Agricultural Conservation Program. Participants in the program is voluntary. It is available to any person on any turpentine farm having working faces which were installed during or after 1946. In 1949 cooperators in the Naval Stores Conservation Program are working about 85% of all faces in the turpentine area of the South.

CHRISTMAS SAVINGS

The Christmas Savings idea has gained such momentum among club members in the United States that approximately $900,000,000 will be distributed among 10,675,000 club members by 5,900 financial institutions before Christmas.

In the light of past experience it is estimated that only about one-third of this 1949 Christmas fund will go into the purchase of Christmas gifts, another one-third of the amount will be transferred by members into permanent savings, and the rest of it will be expended on insurance premiums, mortgage payments, past due bills, taxes and education.

Many homes on the Coast will enjoy the spirit of Christmas because of the forethought of those who put by something every week during the year in systematic savings to ease the pressure of paying for Christmas purchases.

Much of the joy of Christmas is frequently chilled when January's bills come in. Our club members have found an easy way to let the joy of Christmas flow on into January.

Our experience has been that the Christmas Club idea promotes happiness and prosperity, that it yields rich dividends and cultivates the saving habit. There is no other proof needed that membership in our Christmas Club is worthwhile than our regular rejoinders.

Hancock Bank promotes the Christmas Club savings idea primarily because it coincides with the bank's traditional policy to encourage its friends and customers to save money.

Our 1950 Club opens Monday, December 5th. Do your Christmas Savings early, and enjoy the spirit of Christmas twelve months in the year. Be among the many who do not let Christmas slip up to catch them empty-handed.

Researcher Compares Two Ways of Wintering Steers

The Mississippi Agricultural Experiment Station is seeking to find the best method of wintering steers that are to go on pasture in the spring. The station has conducted tests for several years.

One group of steers was wintered on a permanent pasture with no feed other than clipping of Dallis and wild grasses which had been stacked in the pasture. The other group grazed on a rack growth of winter oats until a freeze killed the oats. Then each steer in the second group was fed 25 pounds of sorghum silage, 5 pounds of Johnson grass hay and 2 pounds of cottonseed meal daily for the remainder of the winter.

During the 93-day wintering period, the steers in the permanent pasture gained 51 pounds each and the steers on feed 126 pounds each. A 59-day period of grazing on white clover followed the winter period. Then on June 13 the steers were moved to Dallis grass plots where they remained for 53 days to the end of the experiment.

Results of the test, as reported by Lindsey H. Horn, Jr., of the animal husbandry department, indicated that steers wintered at level just sufficient to keep them in a thrifty condition made larger gains on summer grazing than steers wintered in feed lots. For stock production, wintering steers at hay stacks may be advisable as thinner steers sometime command a higher price in the spring due to the seasonal demand for this type of cattle.

Steers wintered well were in better condition in the spring and were ready for market earlier. They brought higher prices when marketed in late summer or early fall because the markets are usually overrun with lower grade animals at these late seasons and there is always a shortage of high-grade steers.

"Development of winter grazing crops, improvement in hay-making practices, and increased knowledge of various supplements used in winter rations have greatly reduced the problem of actually getting cattle through the winter months," Mr. Horn said. "Thought now should be given to the matter of which method will carry steers through most economically, yet in a thrifty condition ready to convert the maximum amount of pasture into beef the following summer."

STATE OF MISSISSIPPI HANCOCK COUNTY TO HIS EXCELLENCY GOVERNOR FIELDING L. WRIGHT

MISSISSIPPI BOARD OF PAROONS PETITION FOR PARDON

We, the undersigned resident citizens of Hancock County, Mississippi, and all being members of the white race, do hereby petition Your Excellency to grant unto PERCY PETERS, of Hancock County, Mississippi, a pardon, the said Percy Peters was convicted of the crime of Grand Larceny on the day of September, A. D. 1949, at the September, 1949, term of the Circuit Court of Hancock County, Mississippi, and was sentenced to serve a term of one year in the State Penitentiary on said charge and we assign the following reasons why the said Percy Peters should be granted a pardon:

1. We do not believe that the said Percy Peters is guilty of said crime, in spite of the conviction.
2. The said Percy Peters has lived in Hancock County all of his life, is a member of the negro race and has at all times maintained a good reputation for honesty and integrity, and said Percy Peters has never been charged with or convicted of any crime heretofore, and no one has ever before accused the said Percy Peters of committing any crime.

That Percy Peters has a family, a wife and six children, has lived in a community surrounded by white citizens, all of whom give him a good name and a splendid reputation for honesty and integrity and further many outstanding white citizens, men and women, testified to his reputation for honesty and integrity; all of them saying it was good.
5. That the said Percy Peters has all of his life been a hard-working, faithful, respectable negro citizen of Hancock County, and the said Percy Peters continues to enjoy the respect and confidence of the white citizenship of Hancock County.
6. That the said Percy Peters was sentenced to serve three years on said charge, but that additional character witnesses were put on the stand on the hearing for an application for a reduction of the sentence and the Court was so impressed with the good reputation that it reduced the sentence from three years to one year, the minimum sentence that could be imposed.

Permanent Pastures

Permanent pastures pays dividends

W. S. Scales of Flat Top community declares.

In the spring the cows grazed on White Dutch clover and Dallas grass pastures. During this period they produced 600 pounds of milk each day. During the summer the cows grazed Sudan grass, millet and soybeans. Late September the temporary pasture to graze them in. I needed a fall pasture but I didn't have one. The cows had to be turned out to graze in the woods. The milk production dropped to 200 pounds daily. I sure lost money for the last month. Recently, I put the cows on the oats and they picked up a little. I understand Herbert Brown of Catahoula community, planted lespedeza between last spring and he has grazed his cows on it this fall during the dry weather. I want to plant twenty acres next spring. Brown seeded re-seeded crimson clover in the lespedeza between this fall. I like this combination where I will have a pasture for summer, fall and spring grazing on the same areas," Eccles added.

Choose 4 Stanislaus Boys For The State Band Clinic

The 1949 state band clinic will be held in Biloxi at the Buena Vista Hotel. The clinic is sponsored by the Mississippi Band Directors Association. Dan Jensen, director of the Biloxi high school band, is general chairman and will be assisted by the band directors from the coast schools.

Four St. Stanislaus students have been selected to play in one of the two all-state 90 piece bands which will be under the direction of Mr. Donald I. Moore, director of bands, Baylor University, Waco, Texas. The students chosen from the Stanislaus band are: Norbert Carnovale, 1st chair solo cornet; Norman Carnovale, solo clarinet; Jack Dresher, solo trombone; Henry Capapon, saxophone. The following names were also sent in but they were not chosen: Sat D'Angelo, cornet; Paul Hurley, alto saxophone. The two 90 piece clinic bands are made up of students selected from high school band students throughout the state. This year there are 54 high school bands represented. Directors recommend only the best of musicians for these bands, which means that these two clinic bands will rate very high.

Clinic students will report to Biloxi Thursday night, Dec. 8. On Friday morning, the clinic program will get in full swing. These bands will rehearse for two days under the guest conductor. On Saturday night, December 10, the bands will give a concert for the public, in the Hurricane room of the Buena Vista hotel.

Approximately 70 Mississippi band directors are expected for the clinic. At 6 p. m. Friday evening, December 9, the Biloxi Chamber of Commerce will treat the directors to a shrimp boil. The directors from the northern part of the state are looking forward to this treat. At 8 p. m. the same night, the host director will entertain the clinic students with a dance in the Biloxi community house. The music for this dance will be furnished by the dance orchestras from the coast schools.

Tickets for the Saturday night concert have been issued to the directors of the school bands on the coast. The committee is asking every school and town on the coast to get together and show our visitors that the Mississippi Gulf Coast people are supporters of our school band music programs. The committee further asks that the people from the coast cities turn out in large numbers for the fine concert which will be presented by the clinic bands on Saturday night, December 10, at 8:00 p. m. in the Hurricane room of the Buena Vista hotel, Biloxi. Tickets may be purchased from the members of the Saint Stanislaus band.

The complete program of the clinic will appear in next week's issue of this publication. Anyone may attend any of the day sessions and see how 180 school musicians, most of them strangers to each other, work under the baton of a guest conductor unknown to them.

Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Smith have returned from Washington, D. C. where they were visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Egan, and children. Returning with them were Mrs. Egan and the children.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Nothing Fat About Him But His Name

Walking down Main Street with my cousin, Ed, from upstate, we passed Fat Allen, who runs the food store. He made hello to us and I greeted him with "Hi, Fat!"

Ed looks surprised. "How'd you ever come to hang a name like 'Fat' on him?" he wants to know. "Wasn't any extra pounds on the man that I could see."

I told him Allen used to weigh 300 pounds, and how one day he caused a sensation by saying he was going on a diet "and shave off a half-ton or so." No one thought he'd stick it out, the way he loved to eat. But today,

Even where I sit, Fat's assurance of self-discipline was like the way the best retailers cooperate in their Self-Regulation Program to make sure there is sold only in like surroundings. You've got to make rules and then stick to 'em—whether it's your place of business or your waistline you're trying to keep in shape!

Seniors Give Thanksgiving Program

By the Junior-Senior English Class

A Thanksgiving program was given in chapel Wednesday morning by the seniors.

Opening the program, the seniors sang their class song, words were written by the seniors themselves.

Gean Lee gave a reading, "Thanksgiving Reminders."

A short one-act play, "Thanksgiving Dinner" followed.

The characters were Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Boggs, played by Webb Wel-

Peters, by Theresa Lacoste, with Leroy Cuevas, Alberta Bounds and Jack Moran playing the parts of the Peters children; Huey Moran was Grandpa Peters, and Mr. Turner was L. J. Bobinger.

Just before the "Thanksgiving Dinner" the guests were entertained by a song, "Country Boy," sung by Leroy Cuevas, L. J. Bobinger, Jack Moran and Webb Welborn. Jack Moran accompanied them on his guitar, and Webb Welborn gave a very convincing performance as the "Country Boy."

The whole school joined in the singing of "The Thanksgiving Song." The program was announced by Jane Haas, president of the senior class.

Business Ethics

By Joseph D. Henderson
National Managing Director American Association of Small Business

"God and ethics are inconsistent with business."

What kind of heresy was this? Perhaps I had misunderstood. I asked him to repeat his statement.

"Yes, that's what I said," he continued. "You simply can't be moral and make money. Oh, of course I go to church and I believe in God and all of that. But I don't go in for this goody-goody stuff."

I had heard him right, then. He really meant it. But the funny thing was I wasn't even surprised. I have heard many other fools say the same thing.

Sure, "fools" is a harsh word, but what else can you call a person who doesn't use the brain he has been given? Too many of us today are too lazy to think. This makes for unsound theories and practices.

If people would only practice what they have been taught! We spend some twenty years of our youth learning ethics and morality, and throw out every bit of this concrete teaching the minute we can get an extra dollar.

He asked me to prove that one could be moral in business. I countered with a question, "Did you ever hear of such a simple thing as the golden rule?" Of course he had, but he never used it. That's why he lost customers, who didn't like the way they were treated.

Had he ever heard of "Cast thy bread upon the water?" Sure, but he never tried it out. That's why he got a frown in return for his grouch.

Had he ever heard of the ethics of the trades? Yes, but he didn't observe ethics. That's why the Federal Trade Commissioner and the Better Business Bureau were constantly on his neck.

The successful firm is that one which has good public relations. Good public relations are established on ethics. Too few practices are in vogue. Your own business.

Whereas business is being taught and the rest of youth is being taught to be unethical, the religious education is being taught to be ethical.

The success of the firm is that one which has good public relations. Good public relations are established on ethics. Too few practices are in vogue. Your own business.
